

Task force explores future FSM airline service

KOLONIA, Ponape (Congress Release) — "Air Mike has provided excellent service but we have reached the point that as a nation we must make a decision on air transportation," said Senator Pedro Harris, chairman of the Joint Task Force on Air Transportation.

Harris made this comment following a trip to Honolulu where two members of the task force along with members of the Congress Resources and Development Committee met with airlines which may be interested in providing air services to the Federated States of Micronesia.

Present at the Nov. 26 to Dec. 8 meetings were Senators Sasao Gouland, Truk, chairman of the R&D Committee, Tony Otto, Truk, also a member of the task force, Raymond Setik, Truk, and Elias Thomas, Ponape, along with Staff Counsel Maketo Robert.

The members met with representatives of Aloha Airlines, South Pacific Island Airways, Hawaiian Airlines, and Mid Pacific Air, along with Chuck Wolf who proposed to form a feeder line to serve the outer islands. Although the group did not meet with their representatives, Japan Airlines also has expressed interest in providing air service to the FSM.

During its First Regular Session the Third Congress called for such an inves-

Seminar studies social needs

MOEN, Truk — The Micronesian Seminar, the Catholic pastoral and social research institution headquartered here, will soon turn its attention to the economic aspects of the Compact of Free Association with the United States, according to its director, the Rev. Francis X. Hezel, S.J.

Noting that Brother Henry Schwalbenberg, S.J., assistant director of the Seminar, participated last year in the public information programs for the Compact before the plebiscites in Palau, the FSM and the Marshall Islands, Father Hezel said, "This year, it's the economic aspects."

"We hope to have a three-day conference in May (possibly in Ponape) to discuss how the money should be spent," he said, indicating that the purpose of the program is to make the public aware of what the development funds are intended for and how they can participate in determining how they are used.

The FSM is scheduled to receive a base grant of $60 million a year during the first five years of the 15-year Compact with 40 per cent of that to go to economic development and capital improvement projects.

"What we are working toward is getting people to reflect, to think," Father Hezel said, adding that "the people need to control their own destiny."

Father Hezel has been director of the Micronesian Seminar since it was founded in 1971 to provide socio-theological reflections on the problems of the area and to assist the parishes in designing programs and obtaining training for their members.

Father Hezel doubled as director of St. Xavier High School here until 1981 when he returned to Hawaii and the U.S. mainland for a sabbatical year of research, consultation and theological study.

"We got into all sorts of things since we started," he said.

Father Hezel said that the articles and books which he has written and edited and which have gained him a reputation as one of the foremost scholars on the history and social aspects of Micronesia are "an outgrowth of what we have been trying to do at the Micronesian Seminar."

His most famous work is "Winds of Change," a compilation of oral history and tales of Micronesia co-edited with Mark Berg. His latest book is "The First Taint of Civilization," published by the University of Hawaii Press late last year.

Father Hezel said he recently renewed his interest in the "astronomically high" suicide rate in Micronesia.

Father Hezel said he recently wrote an article which has not been published updating the study he began in 1976 on the suicide problem in Truk.

"The rate here, especially among young men, is astronomically high" at 200 a year per 10,000 people, or 10 to 15 times the U.S. rate, he said.

He said that Dr. Don Rubenstein, an anthropologist staying on Uman Island in the Truk Lagoon, is doing most of the current research on suicides, and that the social characteristics and high suicide rate are to be found throughout Micronesia and Western Samoa.

Another area of social research which the Seminar "is just starting to crank up" is mental disorders, especially among young people in Micronesia, in relation to alcohol and marijuana abuse, Father Hezel said, adding that he is trying to get the East-West Center and University of Hawaii to assist in conducting a survey to get basic data on the extent of the

Xavier doubles fund drive goal

MOEN, Truk — The goal for the third annual Xavier High School fund drive was doubled from $8,000 sought last year to $16,000 to cover unanticipated cholera-related costs, according to the Jesuit school's development director Norman W. McComb.

Xavier had a $9,000 shortage during the previous school year, because of having to feed and house 27 female students due to the cholera epidemic which hit Truk in August, 1982, McComb said, adding that paying those bills left

153 named to Honor Roll

LELU, Kosrae — 153 High School students out of an enrollment of 428 made the honor roll list at the close of First Quarter grading period, according to a Kosrae State Release.

Of the 153, twelve students garnered the GPA of 3.9 on a possible 4.0 grading system with 10 others on probation, the release said.

Included among the 3.9 GPA pointers were: Seniors — Lelean Ittu of Malem and Norson Nena of Utwe; Juniors — Alokua Sigrah of Lelu, Kersina Ned of Tafunsak and Yoslin George of Malem; Sophomores — Grossley Kinere and Johnson Asher of Tafunsak, Rochella Zintua and Thompson Siba of Lelu; Freshmen — Linda Kephias and Surleigh Tara of Malem and Moria Nena of Utwe.

the school short of operating funds for this year.

The school has 135 students, including 41 coeds who are living with sponsor families during the 1983-84 school year, he said.

Anticipated expenditures for the school year are $162,000 and anticipated receipts were $156,000 at the time the St. Francis Xavier Fund Drive began on Dec. 1, according to McComb.

Xavier was founded in 1952 as a boarding school for boys and became coeducation in 1976. It has become the premier academic high school in Micronesia, presently serving students from throughout the FSM, Marshall Islands, Palau and Kiribati (Gilberts).

It is supported by Jesuit foundations, government funding and the U.S. food service program, and depends largely on gifts and donations from alumni and other Micronesian and expatriates in the area, McComb said.

The school is seeking gifts of $10-$100, or more during the current drive and seeks scholarship sponsors throughout the year, he said, noting that it costs about $1,250 a year for each student who is charged $200 in tuition and $125 in boarding fees, if he or she lives on campus.

Gallen named FSM Training Chief

KOLONIA, Ponape — Former Ponape State Education Director Paul Gallen was named the FSM Training and Employee Development Division Chief effective Jan. 8, according to the FSM Personnel Officer Kohne Ramon.

Gallen is a native and resident of Nanuh, Uh Municipality, Ponape, and a graduate of PICS High School who received a BA degree in education from the University of Guam and Masters degree in educational foundations, Aug. 1970, from the University of Hawaii at Manoa.

Gallen

Gallen, who started government service in 1964 as junior clerk for District Finance Office, also served as a school teacher, language instructor for Peace Corps Volunteer Program and East-West Center, Field Assistant Superintendent for Ponape school system and Assistant Director of Education for Ponape in 1971.

He became the first Ponapean to hold the title of District Director of Education in 1972 and served under Gov. Leo Falcam as the first State Director of Education in 1979-1983.

Gallen, 42, who ran unsuccessfully for the offices of governor in 1979 and FSM Congress Ponape at-large seat in 1983, is currently serving as one of the 10 at-large delegates to the Ponape Constitutional Convention.

Gallen, a Protestant Church lay minister, is married to the former Margarita William of Uh.

Corps seeks comments

KOLONIA, Ponape — Col. Michael M. Jenks, Honolulu District Engineer, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, requested public review and comments on an application from Jerry Barbosa, for a federal permit to fill a 20-foot by 53-foot tidal area at Kolonia.

"Mr. Barbosa," the District Engineer explained, "proposes to use the landfill area as additional space for his family. If the permit is approved, this project will require the placement of approximately 260 cubic yards of fill material in the tidal area of Kolonia."

Jenks requested that comments on this permit application and any request for a public hearing to consider problems and issues in the proposed residential landfill at Kolonia be mailed to him at Building 230, Fort Shafter, Hawaii 96858, by Feb. 4.

Philatelic agent selection near

KOLONIA, Ponape — Interim Postmaster General Leo A. Falcam said he expects an agent to be selected by mid-February to produce and market FSM postage stamps for philatelic purposes.

Falcam led a delegation to Honolulu which met Dec. 16-20 with representatives of two philatelic firms which made separate presentations on how they would produce and market the stamps and with U.S. Postal Service representatives to discuss the transition to the FSM Postal Service.

Accompanying him were FSM Senators Jack Fritz and Kalisto Refalopei of Truk and Peter Christian and Pedro Harris of Ponape; Judiciary and Governmental Operations Committee Counsel Gary Takeuchi; Washington attorney Barry Israel and Status Commission legal counsel Greg Swartz.

The two firms competing to be the FSM philatelic agent are Inter-Governmental Philatelic Corp. of New York, which represents Palau and the Marshall Islands, and Crown Agents of London in joint venture with Crown Agents Philatelic Corp. of Montville, New Jersey.

The two firms making presentations are the two largest companies in the stamp business, Falcam said, adding, "I left with the distinct feeling that both companies are quite capable and either one could represent the FSM in the area of philatelic trade."

He said that questions were submitted to their representatives regarding the extent of authority the FSM will have in all final decisions on design and production, as "we have to be in control."

The firms are to submit their responses in the next few weeks, Falcam said, adding that he hopes to have a decision by mid-February with the final contract to be subject to approval by the Judiciary and Governmental Operations Committee which is headed by Fritz.

Fritz and Takeuchi left Jan. 13 to go to Palau to discuss agents and transition problems with Palauan postal officials.

"I still feel that the first issue of stamps should come out in early summer, because the longer we wait the more revenue we will be missing," he said, noting that Palau was expected to realize more than $1 million in revenue during the first year of its stamp issue.

U.S. Postal Service officials were most concerned about their current employees being retained by the FSM which has agreed to give them priority consideration, "if they decide to remain in the Postal Service after we take over," Falcam said.

U.S. Postal Inspector Robert Bidwell, who administered the transition for Palau, is handling the turnover for the FSM, he said, adding that "the USPS people are most cooperative and are going to expedite the transition to the FSM."

KOLONIA, Ponape — Kittie Baier, who was nominated to replace Richard Montoya as Deputy Assistant Interior Secretary for Territorial and International Affairs, will visit Ponape and Truk, according to a Jan. 10 dispatch from High Commissioner Janet McCoy to President Tosiwo Nakayama.

Montoya is the Acting Assistant Interior Secretary for OTIA, having been nominated by President Reagan to replace Pedro Sanjuan in that position, pending confirmation by the U.S. Congress.

Baier was a confidential secretary to former Interior Secretary James G. Watt and is Montoya's chief advisor on territorial affairs, according to a Pacific Daily News report.

Baier, who will be accompanied by Marian Holm, is scheduled to fly from Guam to Majuro on Jan. 26, be in Ponape Jan. 29 - Feb. 1 and in Truk Feb. 1-3, before returning to Guam.

Future airline service studied

tigation when it adopted Congressional Resolution No. 3-13. Not only the complaints in high air fares and the inadequate service which Congress has continuously levied against Continental Air Micronesia, but also the deregulation of the airline industry in the United States has caused the investigation. With this deregulation any airline, not only Continental Air Micronesia, can fly in the FSM.

According to Harris, "Air Mike has not been very responsive to our needs. They have refused to furnish us certain important documents to indicate to us how the airline is operating."

"Nobody seems to want to talk about it (the financial situation)," supported Thomas.

Harris said the time has come when the FSM must make a long-term commitment to air transportation.

"We need to develop a complete system of air transportation which will include (service) to the outer islands," he said.

Before any commitment to an airline can be made, Harris said, the task force first would have to discover which outer islands are interested in air services and how the air system would be financed, and then decide the time schedule for the placement of the air strips.

Once these decisions are made, Harris said, the FSM would be able to approach an airline and begin discussing equipment, joint venture arrangements and development of an outer-island-feeder system into the main trunk lines which could in turn connect the FSM with the Far East, North America, the South Pacific, and Australia.

"Developing an air transport system for the vast areas of the FSM will require a large investment and a long-term commitment on our part, but it looks very promising as types of aircraft needed are now available, willingness of outside expertise to participate is there, and the necessary financial backing can be acquired," Harris said.

The Joint Task Force on Air Transportation was established by Congressional Resolution No. 2-123, C.D.1, which was adopted by the Second Congress during its Fourth Regular Session in November, 1982. Besides Harris and Otto, other members of the task force include Senator Isaac Figir of Yap, FSM Transportation Chief Robert Weilbacher, and former National Planner, Dan Perin.

Frank confirmed Truk justice

MOEN, Truk — The Truk State Legislature confirmed the nomination of District Associate Judge Sebastian Frank to be a State Court associate justice, while rejecting the nominator of FSM Public Defender Wanis Simina for a second judgeship, according to a Truk State Release.

The action came Jan. 12 during the third special session which began Jan. 9. Earlier, the TSL confirmed the nominations by Gov. Erhart Aten of Roosevelt Kansou and Marcellino Umwech to the Truk Housing Authority board of directors.

Other nominations are pending for Health Services Director, State Planner, Transportation Officer and other members of boards and commissions.

Nine bills were introduced through Jan. 12, including one to appropriate $20,000 for a special investigating committee created during the second special session in December to look into the state government financial crisis and fiscal 1983 deficit which was estimated at least $2 million by the governor.

Other bills would provide $13,509 in Truk Finance Department supplemental funds; $10,000 to audit the fiscal 1983 general fund; $6,897.83 for printing state laws and resolutions, and $100,000 for the fiscal 1984 State Scholarship Fund.

Also introduced were measures to amend the law repealing the Mortlocks Economic Authority, to repeal a law authorizing the governor to borrow money from lending institutions and to mandate the governor to issue a quit claim deed on Elin Island in the Hall Islands to Otoko Walter.

Seven resolutions introduced include two calling for the confirmations of Frank and Wanis and others asking the FSM President to direct the Attorney General's Office to investigate and prosecute any violations of national law committed by aliens and foreign businesses in Truk, asking the governor to lift his health aids, hiring freeze, asking Mobil Oil Micronesia to branch out in Faichuk, requesting the promotion of Peter Killion to laboratory specialist and expressing condolences to the family of the late Dr. Esikiel Moses.

The legislature also is expected to consider a constitutional referendum bill, a State Foreign Investment Board bill, an amendment to the Executive Reorganization Act and appropriations of federal funds.

CHARTER DEDICATION — FSM Senator Elias Thomas, standing center, is addressing the dedication ceremony Jan. 6 for the charter of the Kipar Development Project in Kitti municipality, Ponape. The charter was issued by Ponape state to the Kipar Women's Association to farm four acres cleared by the State Agriculture Department which provided seedlings and other assistance. The association is seeking funds from the State Legislature for poultry, piggery and other agriculture projects.

Moses to meet with legislature on conference

KOLONIA, Ponape — Gov. Resio Moses said Jan. 12 that he plans to meet with the legislature and discuss the Ponape State Leadership Conference on political status development which will begin on Feb. 6 in the State Legislature Building.

The law which established the conference and was signed by Moses on Jan. 5, invited all members of the new legislature, all nanmwarkies and nanikens, state cabinet officers, speakers and chief executives of the municipal and town councils to participate.

Moses said he has also designated Lt. Gov. Strik Yoma as the administrator and the overall coordinator of the conference.

Moses also completed action on 22 appropriation bills enacted by the Second Ponape State Legislature during its fourth regular session which ended Dec. 21 by signing Dec. 29 into law an appropriation of $12,000 bill funding projects for Kapingamarangi Municipality.

Moses vetoed on Jan. 12 Legislature Bill No. 643-83, LD1, requiring the governor to submit to the legislature the Ponape Economic Development Plan, which was required under Section 211 (b) of the Compact of Free Association, before he submits it to the U.S. Government.

Moses said in his veto message that "heavy legislative intervention into the execution of the State Plan, to the degree contemplated in (that law) can constitute an encroachment into areas of executive prerogative by the legislature, thereby violating the separation-of-power principle of government."

Moses said he recognized the need for the legislature's participation in the planning process for the state and suggested that the legislature make a resolution setting forth the general guidelines for the execution of the plan to accomplish the intent expressed in the bill in question.

Bills signed by Gov. Moses:
Authorize the expenditure of U.S. grant funds for fiscal 1984; appropriate $22,000 for public projects in Nett; appropriate $10,000 to complete CCM dormitory construction; appropriate $20,000 for Ponape Community Action Agency Women's Program; appropriate $20,000 to purchase Kolonia Town's dump-trucks; and appropriate $13,000 to fund an Emergency Relief Program for the people of Nukuoro.

Appropriate $215,000 for construction of additional public school classrooms; appropriate $16,000 for financing several public projects in Pingelap; and appropriate $30,000 to finance certain public projects in Sokehs.

Appropriate $20,000 for the State-wide Leadership Conference on Political Status Development; appropriate $12,000 for public projects in Nukuoro; and appropriate $4,500 for operational costs of Ponape Aging Program.

Appropriate $30,000 for public projects in Madolenihmw; appropriate $65,000 for Ponape state's participation in the Micronesian Trades Apprenticeship Program; appropriate $60,000 for two hydro-electric projects in Ponape; and appropriate $98,000 for PICS high school projects and programs.

Appropriate sum or sums to be determined in the General Appropriations

Act of fiscal 1984 for aiding the non-public schools in Ponape; appropriate $12,500 for Uh public projects; appropriate $30,000 for projects for Kitti; appropriate $9,600 for construction of a Mokilese community house in Kolonia; and appropriate $12,000 for public projects in Kapingamarangi.

Moses said he will touch base with the legislature on matters of: Installation of the state judiciary, the Economic Development Plan and reorganization of the state government.

Upgrading the water system is to be completed, "hopefully, by Jan. 20," he said adding, "PICS pump is being reactivated to help out the current water distribution in Kolonia."

The state has begun design-phase of the $1.2 million airport terminal and a feasibility study for an industrial park to be located between Kolonia and the airport at Deketik, beginning with the consolidation and relocation of Nanhmal and Kolonia power plants to Deketik, Moses stated.

Moses said he is working on completion of the circumferential road within four months and is continuing his effort with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to begin construction of the $6.1 million Nanpil River Hydropower Project.

He said he is working with the TTPI on water and sewer upgrading and correction of Ponape road culverts, and is planning to convert the Public Works Department garage into a public market which will be rented at minimum rates to people marketing farm products.

Moses said he named the Rev. Shem Jimmy as his interim Special Assistant for Outer Islands Affairs, effective Jan. 16.

EDA gets refrigerated truck

KOLONIA, Ponape — The Ponape State Economic Development Authority purchased a refrigerated truck, the only one on the island, to expand markets for fresh fish and produce, according to EDA Executive Director Anson Chong.

EDA took possession Jan. 12 of the diesel powered truck with freezer and chiller manufactured by Tokoh Refrigeration Engineering Co., Ltd. of Japan and purchased from Kowa (Sekki Komi Co., Ltd. which rebuilt all components for $8,380, Chong said.

Kowa, Sekki also guaranteed all parts and equipment for 12 months and agreed to fly a technician to Ponape at the request of EDA Chairman Kasiano Joseph.

Following at least one week of testing, there will be a six-month training program in repair and maintenance of the rig, Chong said.

Officials sworn in Under Constitution

cent of the voters approved the Constitution which replaces the state charter enacted by the former Congress of Micronesia.

Swearing in ceremonies for municipal officials were scheduled to be held Jan. 11 in Lelu, Jan. 12 in Tafunsak, Jan. 13 in Malem and Jan. 14 in Utwe, Phillip said.

Kosrae is the second FSM state to implement its own constitution, following Yap which put its constitution into effect on Jan. 1, 1983. Truk drafted a constitution in 1982 and has not scheduled a referendum. The Ponape State Constitutional Convention is scheduled to be reconvened on Jan. 24 for completion of its draft.

The Kosrae Constitution establishes a state court to replace the Trust Territory District Court here. The governor is to submit nominations for the state court judges to the legislature which will meet in special session on Jan. 16 and regular session on Feb. 14.

The Kosrae Constitution also requires that its legislators become full-time members and give up positions in other branches of the government.

All but one of the 14 members, Dais Alokoa of Lelu, a personnel specialist, chose to remain in the legislature, according to Phillip, who said that the governor scheduled a special election for his seat on Feb. 9.

Nine members giving up other government positions are: Lelu - Fred Skilling, FSM Development Bank loan officer, and Kasuo Isisaki, State energy planner; Tafunsak - Donald Jonah, community development officer; Joshuaia Saimon, education specialist, and Asher P. Palik, public health administrative officer; Malem - Luey Luey, Transportation Authority executive director; Hideo Shrew, Transportation Authority administrative officer, and Moleince Kephass, Community College of Micronesia continuing education; Utwe - Rensler Andrew, health planner.

Other members of the legislature are Speaker Gaius Nedlic and Thurston Siba of Lelu, James Palsis of Tafunsak and Patterson Benjamin of Utwe.

Officers and committee chairman of the Third Kosrae State Legislature who took office in January, 1983, will remain the same under the Constitution, Phillip said.
