Japan aid notes exchanged

COLONIA, Yap - The Japanese Consul General in Guam, the Honorable Yoshinobu Nagashima, and FSM Department of External Affairs Chief of International Affairs, Mr. Masao Nakayamu, signed an exchange of notes in Yap on Oct. 8, formally conveying a 624 million yen (approximately $4.051 million) grant in aid from the Government of Japan for fishing base project for the State of Yap.

The Exchange of Notes ceremony was held at the Yap State Legislature Building in the presence of Governor John mangefel who gave welcoming remarks, Lt. Governor Hilary Tacheliol, Special Assistant to Gov. and former FSM Vice President Petrus Tun, Speaker Joseph Ayin, Council of Pilung Chairman Roboman, Council of Tamol Chairman Belarmino Hathilul and a host of state and local leaders.

The project, when completed, will have all the major requirements of a typical fishing base facility which includes cold storage, fuel farm, small boat repair and ice making facilities and a wharf.

In his remarks, the Consul General said that "about the only thing that will be lacking" from the fishing complex "will be its ability to go out and catch its own fish.

"It brings to mind that should we consider this development project in terms of a business venture, every man, woman and child of this state is a shareholder to the sum of $405.00 each. Think-

Fourth Congress Convenes Last Regular Session

KOLONIA, Pohnpei - Fourth FSM Congress convened Oct. 13 its last 30-day calendar regular session with a quorum of nine members present, according to FSM Congress Speaker Bethwel Henry.

The session will focus its attention on several matters pending before the Fourth FSM Congress as well as entertain new considerations that may be brought up prior to the general elections of a new congress in March, Henry said.

Several bills were deferred during the recent special session, including a bill to establish a national scholarship board to administer funds under the Compact of Free Association and several appropriations bills, Henry noted.

Another congressional major consideration this session would be a bill to provide for the implementation of the "Agreement on Internal Budget and Finance Procedures under the Compact of Free Association" which will amend the Financial Management Act of 1979 and the Budget Procedures Act of 1981 so to be consistent with the provisions of the Compact, Henry said.

During the opening day, a special committee of three with Senator Raymond Setik of Truk, as its chairman, and Senators Peter Christian of Pohnpei and Isaac Figir of Yap as members, was appointed by Speaker Henry to wait on the FSM President and to inform him that Congress has a quorum and is ready to transact business.

ing in this term, everyone of the citizen of Yap State should take 10 pride and look after his interest with the wise guidance of your state and national governments to utilize the facility to its fullest capacity by applying its productivities in the economic and social development of you state and country," the Concul General said, emphasizing "This then is 2 the whole intent of the Japanese Government, conveyed through its Government, conveyed through its grant-aid program." Nakayama, who also spoke during the Exchange-of-Notes ceremony, indicated that the FSM Government attaches great importance to the development of its marine resourdevelopment of its marine resour-ces as its land resources are limited and expressed appreciation to the Government of Japan for recognizing that as demonstrated in the approval of this grant.

Nakayama noted that the new grant is the sixth and the largest one-single project grant from the Government. of Japan since FSM became eligible for Japan's grant aid in 1979 and expressed appreciation to the Government of Japan for its continued support and the warm friendship with which assistance is extended to the FSM.

The ceremony was followed by traditional dance presentations and a dinner reception in the evening at the Island Flavor barrestaurant.

Revenue Divison

KOIONIA, Pohnpei - Randall E. Ferguson, a native of West Virginia, has been appointed as Tax Advisor with the FSM Revenue Division replacing W. Alen Lautanen who ealier resigned to accept a job in the United States, according to FSM Finance Secretary Aloysius J. Tuuth.

Ferguson received his Bachelor's degree in accounting from the University Washington of Seattle, in Washington, and received a Law degree from Lewis and Clark Ferguson School in Portland, Oregon. He is a licensed Certified Public Accountant (CPA) with the State of Washington.

His duties with the division include preparation of written legal opinions and revenue rulings on tax issues, providing advice on tax collection proce-dures and auditing, representing FSM in tax litigation, assisting with the implementation of comand puter software tax system placement of taxpayer records on the computer system.

He is also responsible to train revenue division employees and for preparation of legislation and regulations as requested by the Secretary of Finance.

He has had varied experiences in law and accounting with the primary emphasis in the tax and business areas, prior to accept-ing employment with the FSM, Ferguson said, adding that he was a partner in the law firm of Gallup and Duggan in Vancouver, Washington.

Ferguson is married to former Gayle Hanley of Portland, Oregon, who works for the FSM External Affairs Department.

Credit Union to benefit FSM government employees

KOIONIA, Pohnpei - The FSM National Government employees will soon be able to begin accumulating their savings with the official establishment August 6 of the Federated States of Microne-sia Employees Credit Union (FSM-ECU) and the election of its temporary Board of Directors, Admin-istrative Menagement Administrator Reed Nena, who was named vice president of the temporary Board of Directors, said.

Nena said other interim board of directors include: Gene Babauta, president; Roselain Lucios, treasures; Edigar Isaac, secretary, and Dr. Kiosi Aniol as member. The FSMECU was chartered pursuant to Chapter 1 of the title 36 of the FSM Code and the Credit Union Regulations and whose implementation represents considerable efforts by Middle Management Committee (MMC) members and the Administrative Management Division staff.

The union, which will create a source of credit for its members for provident or production purand reasonable poses at fair rates of interest, will issue shares at $5.00 each with a membership fee of 50 cents.

While FSMECU was initially intended for employees of the FSM National Government, its membership is being offered to both state government and private sec-tors employees as well as other citizens of the FSM who may decide to participate in the program, Nena said.

All interested employees wishing to join the FSMECU are en-couraged to contact the temporary treasurer, at the FSM Department of Finance for purchasing of shares.

Congress may consider Compact issues, bills heard in public projects for Truk were introduced during the second day. The bills, all introduced by Committee on Resources and Development Chairman Senator Koichi Sana of Truk, would appropriate $100,000 for construction of an airport on Ta Island in the Mortlocks; $50,000 for the operation of the Satawan sub-state center; $100,000 for renovation of the Mortlock High School facilities, and $85,000 for the purchase of a 5 kilowatt transmitter for Truk State Radio station.

Senator Sana also introduced a resolution requesting Mobil Oil Micronesia, Inc., to provide fuel storage facilities in the outer islands of Truk, during the second day of the current session.

The Congress may address issues relative to status of Compact, Henry said, adding that Congress is meeting for 30-calendar days unless shortened by a resolution.

In other Congress related activities, Congress committees conducted a series of public hear-ings throughout the FSM states in September and early this month including a delegation, headed by Ways and Means Committee Chairman Peter Christian with the Health, Education and Social Affairs Committee Chairman Tony Otto as member, which went to Washington, D.C., to lobby the U.S. Congress for funding of the construction of the Community College of Mi-cronesia new campus and to look into the issue of the war claims.

Senator Christian earlier said that the FSM government has submitted a $12 million funding request for the construction of COM campus to the U.S. government and that an authorization of $8 million for the construction of the new campus in Palikir, Pohnpei, is now pending in the U.S. Congress.

In regards to war claims, Senator Christian said that the balance of about $24 million for ad-judicated claims for Title I is being considered by the U.S. Congress.

A joint working group, headed by Senator Nick Bossy of Truk, to investigate pricing policies of Mobil Oil Micronesia, Inc., withthe FSM and the neighboring in entities, conducted public hear-ings early this month in Kosrae and Pohnpei. The group, which was comprised of Senator Bossy, which Chairman; Senators Koichi Sana, Kalisto Refalopei, and Thomas, members; including Elias Tim othy Timothy and Dr. Daniel Twom Barimah of the FSM Department of Resources and Development, had completed hearings on the same subject in Truk and Yap.

The Congress during its third Regular Session in May adopted a resolution to investigate Mobil Oil Micronesia and a bill during its special session in August appropriating $10,000 in fiscal 1986 to fund a joint Congress and FSM Resources and Development Department working group to inves-tigate Mobil Oil Micronesia, Inc., regarding its pricing poli-cies in the FSM and neighboring entities, to examine the possibi-lity of government assistance to the private sector in price nego-tiations with Mobil Oil Micronesia and to research possible alternative ternative sources of petroleum products for the FSM, FSM Congress Information Officer Willy Gorongfel said.

The joint working group is di-rected to investigate the reportdisparity ed between prices charged to the private sector as against those charged to the gov-ernment sector in the FSM, Gorongfel said, adding that the Resolution points out that since Mobil Oil Micronesia, Inc., enjoys a monopoly in the sale of petroleum in the FSM, "scrutiniz-ing of (its) price policies is in order."

Committees Judiciary and C and Govermental Operations Health, Education and Social Afseparate fairs also conducted hearings on Kosrae, Truk and Yap late last month and early this month.

UNION, during the Measures covered hearings included bills to set forth the procedures for compila-tion of statistical data and periodic census of population in the October FSM; to establish FSM Council of Insular Arts; to establish a Na-tional Health Council; to prohibit the sale of imported food, beverages, and pharmaceuticals intended for human or animal con-sumption after their expiration in date; and to establish a national 1986 scholarship board to administer scholarship funds made available under the Compact of Free Associ-Page ation.

Also bills to establish salary plan for all exempt positions in ω the FSM national government; to dent; to authorize President to submit to voters a question of constitutional amendment; to proconstitutional amendment; to pro-vide for temporary and permanent resident permits to qualifying visitors; to provide self-sus-taining visitors permit to stay in FSM; and to change the exempt title position of OPS head from National Planner to Director.

particular Conducting these hearings were Senators Claude Phillip of Kosrae and Elias of Pohnpei Thomas with staff counsel Maketo Robert.

HOME HEALTH CARE TRAINING HELD - A four-day Health Care in the Home training was held for Pohnpei State Rehabilitation technicians and murses at the Pohnpei State Hospital recently. B Paulus appointed new Truk Legislature confirms Governor's nominees Housing Director

MDEN, Truk - Kachutosy Paulus, a fiscal affairs special assistant to former Governor Erhart Aten, has been appointed Executive Director for Truk State Housing Authority, according to Truk Information Specialist Dechuo Jain.

Paulus assumes the position which has been vacant since the death Jan. 11 of former director Mr. Sachuo Buliche.

A veteran of many years with Truk Legislature, Paulaus previously served as the chairman of the Ways and Meaans Committee and a pioneer in the concept of Truk Budget Planning and Reviewing Group, of which he was recognized as a leader and strong advocate of many Truk CIP funding, Jain said. He was educated at the College of Guam in early 60's and served as manager of Truk Cooperative Association before he was elected to Truk State Legislature in 1978. Members of the Truk Housing Authority Board of Directors include: Chairman Johnny Killion; Mrs. Berty Irons; Masasinge Eis, and Senator Roosevelt Kansou, Jain said.

UDG OFFIERS SERVICES TO DISAELED STUDENTS - UDG Communication major Joakim Peter, sitting near his new wheelchair, a graduate of Xavier High School from Ettal, the mid-Mortlocks, Truk, received the loan of a new wheelchair as part of efforts in the new program sponsored by the Office of the Student Services to meet the needs of disabled students attending the UOG. Peter suffers from a partial paralysis through an accident sustained while attending Xavier High School in Truk. Shown left to right are Professor Ron Jacobson, UOG Pres-ident Dr. Jose Q. Cruz, and Professors Ben Perez and Ron Smith.

MDEN, Truk - A resolution to provide additional Governor's representatives to lagoon areas of Southern Namoneas and Faichuk, and the Western Islands (comprised of Halls, Nomwinwitos and Pattiu in the outer islands) was adopted Sept. 8 by Truk State Legislature during its recent regular session, according to Truk Information Specialist Dechuo Jain.

The intent of the resolution is to provide someone to coordinate all island affairs and act as a

Noket passes Bar Exam

MDEN, Truk - Micronesian Legal Services Corporation (MISC) Truk Office Manager Camilo Noket became the first FSM citizen to pass the FSM bar without attending law school, and was sworn in Sept. 12 to FSM Bar by FSM Supreme Court Associate Justice Richard Benson, according to MISC (Truk) directing Attorney Herb Whitaker.

The swearing in ceremony was attended by Truk's first lawyer and FSM Senator Jack Fritz, Truk Legislature Ways and Means Committee Chairman Senator Resty Shotaro, who represented Speaker Fritz Hartman, and MISC staff and other government employees, Whitaker said.

Noket, 42, a native of Moen and traditional chief of Iras Village, has been practicing law before various courts in Truk for five years as a trial counselor for the MISC, Whitaker said, adding that Noket is scheduled to assume the directorship of the MISC Truk office when he, Whitaker, is transferred Nov. 17 to MISC Saipan office.

"I am especially proud of Camilo for using his talents and his position to help the Trukese people rather than to use it for self-gain or advancement," Whitaker noted, adding that Camilo's many years of hard work as a trial counselor and many hours of preparing for the exam have earned him a unique accomplishment.

Noket graduated from Xavier High School in 1963 and attended MLSC counselors training workshops held every year since 1980, previously served as manager of Truk Fishing Coop and director of Truk Fishing Coop and director of Truk Catholic Social Development of Human resources incharge of Truk Boat Yard for many years before he came on board with MLSC in Truk.

Noket is married and lives on Moen with his family.

representative between the Governor's Office and the respective areas, Jain said, adding that presently, only the Mortlocks has a governor's respresentative.

The Committee on Judiciary and Governmental Operations recommended approval of the resolution saying that it has merit and will be utilized as an essential government arm for the island affiars.

In other legislative action, the Truk Legislature rejected a proposed legislation to repeal the Cost of Living Allowance (COIA) Act in its entirety.

(COIA) Act in its entirety. Earlier in the year, an Administration bill to provide state government employees $530,000 as partial payment to their COIA in salary increases was passed Jan. 13 by the Second Truk State Legislature during its special session.

Bills passed final reading on Sept. 8 include: supplemental appropriations for members of the Truk State Legislature (3-25), amending Truk State Foreign Imvestment Act to provide a legislative representative on the board (3-20), amending the Executive Branch Reorganization Act of 1980 to remove the Division of Tourism and Commerce from the Department of Resources and Development (3-3), and authorizing the Governor to borrow fund from any lending institution for unmet obligations of the Truk State Government.

Iegislature also adopted resolutions confirming the nominations of Joe Suka as Director of Resources and Development, Isauo Kuena as Personnel Officer, Kachuo Eko as Attorney General, Iskia E. Sony as Public Affairs Director, Jesse Mori as Finance Director, Roger Mori as State Planner, Marcelino Unwech as Director of Education, Thomas Mori as State Transportation Officer, Nachsa Siren as Public Health Services Director, and George Soares as Public Safety Director.

Other resolutions adopted directing the Truk Public Works Office to provide construction equipment in a channel-clearing project in Uman Municipality, directing the Education Committee to take feasibility study for dormitory construction to accommodate Trukese students abroad, amending Rules of Procedure for Legislature in respect to its daily order of business and composition of committee members, and expressing condolences to the family and relatives of late Kachusy Sisam.

Micronesian region to develop its own Scientists

AGANA, Guam - Micronesians must develop their own strategy for science education and their own scientists to meet the economic development and environmental protection needs of their new nations, according to participants in the Micronesian Science Education Planning Conference and Workshop.

The workshop was held Sept. 15-19 at the Cliff Hotel and University of Guam by the College of Micronesia and Trust Territory Education Department to assist Micronesian educators in developing ideas for science education in general and for developing ideas for Science Education Centers to be established in the Marshall Islands, Palau and Pohnpei State, FSM as part of Project SEAM (Science Education Advancement in Micronesia) funded by the Trust Territory, according to COM Executive Director Singeru Singeo.

The Pacific Postsecondary Education Council (PPEC) was assisting in coordinating the workshop which attracted participants from the Marshall Islands, Palau, the four FSM states, the Northern Marianas, Guam Education Department, UOG and Syracuse University in New York.

TTPI Education Director Elizabeth Rechebei said, "We need our own scientists who will bring back to our island environments the knowledge of those processes that will preserve our islands and the understanding of nature that governs our existence."

Micronesian scientists are needed to meet the economic development goals set by the Micronesian governments in the national development plans, by utilizing natural resources, in addition to eradicating traditional diseases and making "our children more healthy and intelligent," Rechebei said.

Pohnpei Education Director Damian Sohl, Vice Rector of the COM Board of Regents, said, "We want to develop our own resources and the manpower from among our own people to manage them."

OM regent John Salas of Guam said the governments of the region must give higher priority to education in general, as well as science education, to meet their economic, social and political development needs.

UOG President Jose Q. Cruz welcomed the participants, offering the support of the university and the PPEC, which he serves as treasurer and past chairman, for Project SEAM in recognition of "the new era of self-sufficiency which you will undertake shortly in Micronesia."

Dr. Singeo said that the workshop focused on the need to improve science education in the three freely associated states, the FSM, Palau and Marshalls, because they will lose most U.S. federal funds for education when their Compacts are implemented, a COM release said.

Consultants from Syracuse and UOG were invited to share suggestions for science education curriculum, implementation and funding, drawn from their experiences in other regions, but the Micronesian educators "have to pick and choose where we want to go and what we want to do," Singeo said.

"With the funding we have received, we are going to go back now with this information and set up preliminary science centers," Singeo told the participants, referring to the $170,000 grant which college received from the Trust Territory to set up and operate three centers jointly with local education departments.

COM is planning to set up additional science centers when funds are available in Truk, Yap and Kosrae, Dr. Singeo said.

The participants cited the need to upgrade science education in Micronesia to meet the economic development and environmental protection goals of its three new nations under their Compact of Free Association with the United States.

Problems cited by the participants include weak science education programs and the need to make science education interesting to inform the general public, as well as develop scientists and technicians, and the need to make science education relate to local cultures and comprehensive to those using English as a second language, lack of support for science education, teacher incentives and science specialist involvement in curriculum planning.

The participants also recognized the problems of lack of accountability administrative support and community involvement and support, students and teachers avoid science instruction which is perceived as too difficult or incomprehensible, partly due to problems with English as the language of instruction, and elementary and secondary schools lack scientific laboratory and teaching facilities which causes a "brain drain" by forcing students interested in science to leave the region.

In their recommendations, the participants said the Micronesian governments must give high priority to science education, in order to conserve national resources and provide for economic growth.

They called for specific plans a for science education at the elementary and secondary and postsecondary levels and improved math competency for all students; upgrading science competency for teachers through in-service training and incentives.

They also called for projects on to improve science education in the outer islands where communication and supervision are limited and the formalization of Project SEAM to maintain communicaprovide leadership in curriculum planning, development and assessment, and community education on the importance of science and the utilization of local people and resources in science instruction.

They urged the development of science curricula and academic standards throughout the region with "an appropriate balance between biological, chemical and physical sciences," and formal evaluation programs for teachers and students, adding that "Micronesians would be encouraged to pursue scientific and technological careers and to stary in the region with the use of role models, qualify counseling, science clubs, apprenticeship and parttime work programs and sciencerelated job opportunities."

The first two days of the workshop were devoted to panel discussions of science education problems, resources and concerns in Micronesia with the rest of the week spent on panel discussions on opportunities and recommended action, small group reports and discussions of the role of the Science Centers and other related activities.

The Syracuse University team included Dr. Robert Diamond, Assistant Vice Chancellor and Director of its Center for Instructional Development; Dr. Anne Pederson of the Pacific Science Association, and professors Lary Schafer, Larry Wolf and Peter Gray.

School of Nursing staff offices and classes will be moved to the new facility in October, Capelle said.

President Kabua welcomed the establishment in Majuro as the regional institution to serve the Marshalls, Palau and the Federated States of Micronesia.

"I hope from here we can learn to work together," the President said.

Kabua praised the Marshallese education and health services ministries for their efforts in transfering the School of Nursing from Saipan and preparing for the dedication ceremony, the release stated.

Education Minister Phillip Muller cited the School of Nursing as the first higher education institution to be established in the Marshalls and indicated that the RepMar government hopes to expand its program.

COM Board of Regents Rector Alfred Capelle of the Marshalls presented the President a wooden fish and fish hook carved by the Kapingamarangi artisans of Pohnpei as "a symbolic gift which we feel demonstrates our commitment to the School of Nursing and Republic of the Marshall Islands."

Citing the proverb, "If you feed a man a fish, you feed him only for today (and) if you teach a man to fish, he will feed himself a lifetime," Capelle said. "This fish represents our commitment to feed those people who hunger today for education (while) the hook symbolizes our desire to teach our people how to feed themselves for their lifetimes."

First Lady Emlain Kabua, assisted by Lerooj Atma Zedekia and COM Executive Director Singeru Singeo, cut the ribbon symbolically opening the dormitory section of the new campus.
